Ringkasan

As a Full-stack Developer at Apique Group, I specialize in web development, leveraging my skills in front-end and back-end development to contribute to impactful projects. My ongoing studies in Teknik Informatika at Universitas Ciputra Surabaya complement my professional experience, equipping me with a solid foundation in software engineering principles. My educational journey, starting from SMK Telkom Malang, cultivated discipline and a strong technical foundation, which I apply to deliver high-quality, scalable applications. I strive to continuously improve my technical expertise while contributing to innovative software solutions in the tech industry.
